Urban development

Kristiansand Municipality is planning a major transformation of Lagmannsholmen – from an industrial port into a vibrant and sustainable urban district. This transformation is being carried out through a new area zoning plan, which is now available for public consultation and review.

The proposed plan enables urban development that includes housing, commercial spaces, parks, a harbor promenade, and public urban areas – all with a strong emphasis on high quality, accessibility, and environmentally friendly solutions. The plan is presented through two zoning maps and five different illustrative concepts. These concepts are not mutually exclusive and can be combined in various ways, offering flexibility and encouraging meaningful dialogue during the consultation phase. Based on the feedback received, selected elements will be compiled into a final plan proposal before formal approval.

Public participation, involvement, and engagement are essential parts of the planning process. The Tall Ships Races offer a unique opportunity to take part. During the event, the public will have rare access to the planning area, which is normally closed.

We invite you to explore the area and visit our website for more information about the zoning plan, the planning process, and how you can get involved. All planning documents – including zoning maps and illustrative plans – are available online for review.

If you would like to share your opinion, provide feedback, or contribute ideas for the future of Lagmannsholmen, please visit the website and submit your input (electronic ID required) by 15 August.

You can also take a more informal survey to share your thoughts.
